shape the solution
“The RWJ Fellowship will change your career.
Your career can change health care.”

Ben Chu, MD, MPH, FACP
RWJ Fellow, 1989-1990
“Most other programs offer no more than you can read in a book. After the RWJ program, Fellows can write the book.”

Mark Carlson, MD, MA
RWJ Fellow, 2002-2003

The Robert Wood Johnson Health Policy Fellowships Program is the nation’s most prestigious learning experience at the nexus of health science, policy and politics.

Sponsored by the Institute of Medicine of the National Academies since 1973, the non-partisan fellowship offers exclusive, hands-on policy experience with the most influential congressional and executive offices on Capitol Hill.

Working hand-in-hand with the best and brightest in federal health policy, fellows gain an insider’s perspective of the political process, develop unmatched leadership skills and build a professional network that lasts a lifetime.
One of the best ways to affect policy is through the political process. The only way to learn politics is to live it.

Michael Painter, JD, MD, RWJ Fellow 2003-2004
Transform
Achieving the highest level of professional performance

RWJ Fellows have become the nation’s most influential thinkers and leaders in the health care field.

As professors and deans at major academic institutions, directors of professional health associations, leaders in state and federal government and experts at think tanks and advocacy organizations, RWJ Fellows are transforming the nation’s health care policy and practice.

“The fellowship changed the way I see everything. The world changes from a checker board to a chess board.”

Jay Gershen, DDS, PHD
RWJ Fellow, 1982-1983
Eligibility:
Exceptional, experienced health professionals and behavioral and social scientists from academic faculties and nonprofit healthcare organizations are encouraged to apply. All applicants must obtain sponsorship from an academic center or a nonprofit organization to qualify for the Fellowship.

Criteria:
Fellows will be selected based on the following criteria:
- Professional achievements
- Potential for leadership in health policy
- Potential for future growth and career advancement
- Interpersonal and communication skills
- Individual plans for incorporating the Fellowship experience into specific career goals

Awards:
Up to 10 grants of $155,000 each are offered per fellowship cycle. Fellows receive up to $84,000 for their year in Washington, D.C., plus additional benefits. Remaining funds may be used for pre-approved leadership development activities for up to two years following the Washington year.

How to apply:
Contact us for more information or download the Application Form online at www.iom.edu/rwj. The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation prizes diversity and welcomes applications from eligible candidates regardless of race, ethnicity, religion or gender.

Contact Us:
Call: (202) 334-1506
Email: info@healthpolicyfellows.org
Visit: www.healthpolicyfellows.org

“For more than 30 years, the RWJF Health Policy Fellowships Program has connected the nation’s best health professionals with leaders on Capitol Hill to help shape our nation’s health care policy.”
– Senator Bill Frist

“The Robert Wood Johnson Health Policy Fellows provide a real public service. They have been real players in congress on health policy for over 30 years. Their insights and experience are highly prized on Capitol Hill on both sides of the aisle. They bring fresh ideas and needed skills to all aspects of health policy.”
– Senator Edward M. Kennedy

Get Involved
Develop unrivaled professional expertise. Expand your network. Inform and influence the nation’s health care policy.
“RWJ Fellows bring real world experience to Capitol Hill to shape federal health policy.”
– Senator Orrin Hatch